

DE-STA-CO'S AUTOMATION SOLUTIONS INCREASE AFTER ACQUISITION OF IMC

By: Pat Carroll, President of DE-STA-CO

Technological advances have led to a truly global market. As the worldwide leader in robotic tooling, workholding and flexible industrial automation solutions, DE-STA-CO has succeeded throughout its 90-year history, using acute awareness of the business environment, and by successfully adapting to its sudden shifts and gradual trends. This focus, combined with our emphasis on maximizing flexibility, allows DE-STA-CO to provide customers with the best products and solutions on the market.

To meet the needs of today's medical manufacturers, DE-STA-CO produces a wide variety of products suitable for class 10/100 cleanroom standards. Through the use of corrosion-resistant materials, our automation and workholding components are able to achieve excellent reliability, even in harsh environments with consistent exposure to de-ionized water. These types of efforts represent our constant dedication to understanding and meeting the needs of our customers. With the recent acquisition of Industrial Motion Control, LLC (IMC), that tradition continues.

IMC possesses more than 100 years of experience and makes significant investments in personnel and capital equipment to serve its global customer base. The company might be best known as the manufacturer of CAMCO and Ferguson mechanical motion control products, which specialize in CAM-actuated index drives, parts handlers, precision conveyors and custom CAMs. Serving a wide variety of industries ranging from paper conversion and packaging to medical and pharmaceuticals, IMC has developed a reputation in the market for high-load, high-speed and high-accuracy industrial automation applications.

With products that are a key upfront consideration in the design of new industrial automation systems, the product portfolio of IMC is extremely complementary to our own. In short, this acquisition will enable DE-STA-CO to provide customers with comprehensive automation solutions that truly stand out within the market.

Team DE-STA-CO is a key component of our continued success as a market leader. The moniker is more than a catchy name that identifies a workforce spanning across the globe; it is an internal attitude and external approach to providing the highest consistent level of quality in every interaction, both with customers and with all members of the supply chain around the world.

The mission of Team DE-STA-CO is to provide the best products, services and solutions that the industry has to offer, and to always make the customer the number one priority, regardless of need or geographical location. To this end, we manufacture products in seven countries and operate sales and service offices in 13 countries. With the acquisition of IMC and inclusion of CAMCO and Ferguson products into the DE-STA-CO lineup, we will be able to provide an even stronger boost to the productivity and success of our customers. tmd
